For the Week of 5th July 2009

At the GenY Seminar:

Parents: Learn how to relate to your kids
Youth: learn how to harness your potential
this Saturday @ 2pm

The world is changing. The Gen Y population is unlike any the world has known. This generation is smart, focused, well-informed. Parents from the post-war generation find it difficult to understand and connect with this new generation.

Churches all over the world struggle at keeping their youth. PP has grown over the years because more families are seeking an active, meaningful youth programme for their children. We are thankful for leaders at PP who are concerned for our youth and have put in place a wonderful, demanding and growing programme for our youth.

On the home front, parents are finding it increasingly difficult to relate to their youth. In many homes, the youth are better informed, more motivated and too self-centered to work at keeping the family together. Parents are often at a loss when it comes to dealing with their kids.

Our Gen Y population are forever seeking, attempting to latch onto something that they can depend upon. They are placed in an era where everything they need is available, yet they are unable to choose wisely or harness the full potential that is theirs. Many also are unable to deal with relationships and their faith.

Parents, church leaders, Bible class teachers, youth - come this Saturday at 2pm and learn from Mr. Robert Yeo all the ramifications of Gen Y. It will open your eyes, help you learn new insights and provide you with helpful tips that you can use immediately. Elder Winston and sister Hong Ngee have invited over a dozen friends. You too will know parents or youths who want to do better. Invite them to this seminar this Saturday.

Gen Y Seminar

This Saturday,
11th July 2009
2-5pm

With Robert Yeo*

2008 was the year the first batch of baby boomers (1946-1964) reached their legal retirement age of 62 years in Singapore. As a country, we are facing an aging working population. By 2035 there will be only two workers for every worker over 65 years. The Government has been concerned with leadership renewal for many years now.

Pasir Panjang COC was established by a small group of baby boomers who then converted a whole lot of Gen Xers. Now over four decades later, second-generation Gen Y Christians (born 1981-2000) comprise some 30% of the membership of the church. As parents, are you connecting well with your Gen Y children? As leaders, do we know how to reach out to and develop Gen Y to carry on in the service of the Lord?

Especially for parents, church leaders, Bible class teachers and youth. Tell your friends. Come to learn how to connect with and develop Gen Y talents at home and in church.

Robert Yeo is the Executive Director of Singapore Training And Development Association*

Our newly transferred members were presented to the congregation last Sunday morning by our minister. Get to know brothers Koh Chin Soon (father of brother Kenneth Koh), David Dass and Immanuel (both from India, working in Singapore).

Brother Kwa Teow Hwa will be speaking at our morning worships today on the subject of "Servant Leadership". He is the brother of sister Jenny. Come back at 6pm to hear brother Kenneth Koh speaks on "His commandments are not burdensome".

Our adults will embark on a new combined series this morning on "Lord, Change My Attitude". The teaching team will be led by deacon Swee Aun. Notes for this series may be downloaded from our home page of www.ppcoc.org.

Join us this afternoon at 1:30pm for our monthly cappella singing with the Daniel Ng family.
